JOURNAL of Transactions in BOSTON. Begun in THIS Paper of November 7, N° 1727 and continued in that of December 12, N°. 1733.

BOSTON, October 27.

THE People were this morning filled with astonishment on hearing that the G——— r had appointed the J——s M———y already noticed in this Journal, as one of his Majesty's Justices of peace for the county of Suffolk; no appointment of this sort could have been more unpopular, or have raised a more general indignation. The inhabitants being fully persuaded, that by means of the steady conduct of our bench of justices, in refusing to quarter and billet troops in this town, contrary, as they apprehend, to an act of parliament, this gentleman was added to their number, and that the G——r will not now want a Justice Gillam, or a more fit instrument to carry his purposes into the utmost execution. It is given out that when this nomination was made, there was silence for a space of time, and such signs of disgust as raised the passions and voice of this G———r, who afterwards condescended to use arguments and intreaties with his C——l in favour of his said friend, which finally prevailed to obtain the consent of a majority of two only.

This day Faneuil-Hall was cleared of the troops, and delivered up to the Selectmen by Col. Dalrymple.

October 28. In the morning it was known that the troops which lately occupied Faneuil-Hall, had been placed, or has quartered themselves in the buildings, which had been hired of James Murray, Esq; but owned by James Smith, Esq; of Brush-Hill, such a procedure in the face of an act of parliament, may well surprise the inhabitants, and lead them to think that some gentlemen of the civil and military order have concluded that they have a right for certain purposes, of dispensing with those acts at their pleasure! However this may be, it is hoped that the people will soon have the satisfaction of knowing whether such steps can be taken by any with impunity; or whether every order and person among us is not equally held to the due observance of law.

The papers and letters brought by Captain White, who arrived here yesterday from London, lead us to hope, that American affairs will quickly take a new turn, as some late publications, had served to awaken the attention of the people to their own interest, which they now find has been ill consulted by those in power, who either by giving credit to the accounts received from hence, through interested and false mediums, or in order to answer purposes merely ministerial, had gone into such rash measures as have thrown the nation into the utmost confusion and distress, and if not changed must end in its total destruction. — A gentleman of this town now in London, writes, that at an interview with L——d H——lsb——h, he was told that it was determined right or wrong, to enforce obedience to the late regulations. Several ministerial places justify General Amherst being displaced, and Lord Botetourt's being appointed in his room upon this principle, that every one who hold any post from the Crown, ought to be ordered to their several stations in the colonies, in order to exert their whole influence to carry down the late regulations. In pursuance of this ministerial plan of policy we now behold a standing army, and swarms of crown officers, placemen, pensioners and expectants encouraging in order to subdue Americans to the yoke. Our hopes are, that the people of Britain do now, or will soon perceive that they cannot have our money in the way of a revenue, and trade both; that what merchants and manufacturers receive, serves to increase the wealth and opulence of the nation, while the other only tends to destroy trade and increase ministerial dependance.

This day the following Address was presented to General Gage by several gentlemen of the council, in behalf of themselves and the other members who subscribed it, being all that were present.

To his Excellency General GAGE,

Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Forces in AMERICA;

The ADDRESS of the Subscribers, Members of his Majesty's council of the Province of MASSACHUSETTS BAY:

SIR,

A General council being held yesterday, (five of the distant members of it, together with the members in the town and the neighbourhood, the pleasure of addressing you. We take the first opportunity of doing it, and at the same time to pay our compliments to your Excellency.

In this time of public distress, when the general court of the province is in a state of dissolution; when the metropolis is possessed by troops, and more are daily expected, it affords a general satisfaction that your Excellency has visited the province, and has now an opportunity of knowing the state of it by your observation and enquiry.

Your own observation will give you the fullest evidence that the town and province, are in a peaceful state. Your own enquiry will satisfy you, that though there have been disorders in the town of Boston, some of them did not merit notice; and that such as did, have been magnified beyond the truth.

Those of the 18th of March, and 10th of June, are said to have occasioned the above-mentioned armament to be ordered hither. — The first was trivial, and could not have been noticed to the disadvantage of the town, but by persons inimical to it, especially as it happened in the evening of a day of recreation. The other was criminal, and the actors in it were guilty of a riot: But we are obliged to say it had its rise from those persons who were loudest in their complaints about it, and who by their over-charged representations of it have been the occasion of so great an armament being ordered hither. We cannot persuade ourselves to believe they have sufficient evidence to support such representations; which have most unjustly brought into question the loyalty of as loyal a people as any in his Majesty's dominions.

This misfortune has arisen from the accusation of interested men, who's avarice, having smothered in their breast every sentiment of humanity towards the province, has impelled them to oppress it to the utmost of their power; and by the consequences of that oppression attempting to injure Great-Britain.

From the candour of your Excellency's sentiments, we assure ourselves you will not entertain any apprehension, that we mean to justify the disorders and ridiculous proceedings that have taken place in the town of Boston. We detest them, and have repeatedly and publicly expressed that detestation; and in council have advised Governor Bernard to order the attorney-general to prosecute the perpetrators of them: But at the same time we are obliged to declare in justice to the town, that the disorders of the 10th of June last, occasioned by a seizure made by the officers of the customs, appeared to have originated with those who ordered the seizure to be made. The hour of making the seizure (at or near sun set) the threats and armed force used in it, the forcibly carrying the vessel away, and all in a manner unprecedented, and calculated to irritate, justify the apprehension that the seizure was accompanied with extraordinary circumstances in order to excite a riot, and furnish a plausible pretence for requesting troops. A day or two after the riot, and as if in prosecution of the last mentioned purpose, notwithstanding there was not the least insult offered to the commissioners of the customs, either in their persons or property, they thought fit to retire, on the pretence of security to themselves, on board the Romney man of war, and afterwards to Castle William; and when there, to keep up the idea of their being still in great hazard, procured the Romney and several other vessels of war to be so stationed as to prevent an attack upon them which they affected to be afraid of.

These proceedings have doubtless taken place, to induce a belief among the officers of the navy and army, as they occasionally came thither, that the commissioners were in danger of being attacked, and to procure from those officers representations coincident with their own, that they really were so. But their frequent landing on the Main, and making excursions to the country, where it would have been easy to have seized, if any injury had been intended, them, demonstrates the insincerity of their declarations, that they immured themselves at the Castle for safety. This is rather to be accounted for as being an essential part of the concerted plan for procuring troops to be quartered here, in which they and their coadjutors have succeeded to their wish; but unhappily to the mutual detriment and uneasiness of both countries.

We thought it absolutely necessary, and our duty to the town and province required us, to give your Excellency this detail, that you might know the sentiments of this people, and that they think themselves injured, and injured by men to whom they have done no injury. From the justice of your Excellency, we assure ourselves your mind will not admit of impressions to their disadvantage from persons who have done the injury.

Your Excellency in your letter to Governor Bernard, of the 14th of September, gave notice that one of the regiments from Halifax was ordered for the present to Castle William, and the other to the town; but you was pleased afterwards to order both of them into the town.

If your Excellency, when you know the true state of the town, which we can assure you is quite peaceable, shall think his Majesty's service does not require those regiments to continue in town, it will be a great ease and satisfaction to the inhabitants, if you will please to order them to Castle William, where commodious barracks are provided for their reception; or to Point Shirley in the neighbourhood of it, in either of which, or in both, they can be well accommodated.

As to the two regiments expected here from Ireland, it appears by Lord Hillsborough's letter of the 30th of July, they were intended for a different part of North-America.

If your Excellency shall think it not inconsistent with his Majesty's service, that they should be sent to the place of their first destination, it would contribute to the ease and happiness of the town and province, if they might be ordered hither.

As we are true and faithful subjects of his Majesty, have an affectionate regard for the mother-country, and a tender feeling for our own, our duty to each of them makes us wish, and we earnestly beg your Excellency to make a full enquiry into the disorders above mentioned, into the causes of them, and the representations that have been made about them; in doing which your Excellency will easily discover who are the persons, that, from lucrative views, have combined against the peace of this town and province: Some of whom it is probable have discovered themselves already, by their own letters to your Excellency.

In making the enquiry, tho' many imprudencies, and some criminal proceedings may be found to have taken place, we are persuaded from the candour, generosity and justice that distinguish your character, your Excellency will not charge the doings of a few individuals, and those of an inferior sort, upon the town and province. And with regard to those individuals, if any circumstances shall appear justly to extenuate the criminality of their proceedings, your Excellency will let them have their effect — On the same candour, generosity and justice, we rely, that your Excellency's representations of this affair to his Majesty's ministers will be such as even the criminals themselves shall allow to be just.

Boston, October 21, 1768.

October 29. The inhabitants of this town have been of late greatly insulted and abused by some of the officers and soldiers, several have been assaulted on frivolous pretences, and put under guard without any lawful warrant for so doing. A physician of the town walking the streets the other evening, was jostled by an officer, when a scuffle ensued, he was afterwards met by the same officer, in company with another, both as yet unknown, who repeated his blows, and, as is supposed, gave him a stroke with a pistol, which so wounded him as to endanger his life. A tradesman of this town, on going under the walls of the Common, in his way home, had a thrust in the breast with a bayonet from a soldier; another person passing the street, was struck with a musket, and the last evening, a merchant of the town was struck down by an officer, who went into the coffee-house, several gentlemen following him in, and expostulating with the officer, were treated in the most ungenteel manner; but the most atrocious offence, and alarming behaviour was that of a Captain, the last evening, who in company with two other officers, endeavoured to persuade some negro servants to ill-treat and abuse their masters, offering them that the soldiers were come to procure their freedoms, and that with their help and assistance they should be able to drive the Liberty Boys to the Devil; with discourse of the like import, tending to excite an insurrection. Depositions are now taking before the magistrates, and prosecutions at common law are intended, the inhabitants being determined to oppose by the law such proceedings, apprehending it the most honourable as well as the most safe and effectual method of obtaining satisfaction and redress; at the same time they have a right to expect that General Gage will not remain an unconcerned spectator of such a conduct in any under his command.—Here Americans! you may behold some of the first fruits springing up from that root of bitterness a standing army. Troops are quartered upon us in a time of peace, on pretence of preserving order in a town that was as orderly before their arrival as any one large town in the whole extent of his Majesty's dominions; and a little time will discover whether we are to be governed by the martial or the common law of the land.

October 30. Last evening the encampment on the Common broke up, and the soldiery retired into winter-quarters in this town, but by whom they have been quartered remains yet to be enquired.— To the further astonishment of the inhabitants of this town, we are told, that libels were registered the last evening by order of the Commissioners, against twenty-one merchants and others of this town, for upwards of the sum of 100 000*l.* sterling, on pretence of their having broke some of the late revenue act.—What an enemy has trade here to the Mother County, that it is thus dealt with!

The SPEECH of His Excellency WILLIAM TRYON, Esq; his Majesty's Captain General, Governor and Commander in Chief, in and over the province of North-Carolina;

To the General Assembly, met at Newbern, the 7th day of November, 1768.

Gentlemen of his Majesty's Honourable Council
Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House of Assembly.

DESIROUS as I am at all times to consult your's for the good of his Majesty's service, and the prosperity of his subjects, I particularly meet you at this season, from the necessity there is, that you should be informed of the late disturbances in back frontier settlements in this province; at the same time that I recommend to you, to adopt such measures as in your wisdom you shall find necessary, to stop the present, and prevent for the future, those licentious and tumultuous meetings that have been so frequently held, by a large body of insurgents in those parts; insurrections destructive of the good order of government, and dangerous to the constitution of this country.

That you may receive the fullest information of the principles and proceedings of these men, and the motives that compelled me to raise, and march a body of militia into Hillsborough, to oppose their daring and intentional outrages; I shall lay before you the several petitions, papers and addresses they sent me, with my answers, and the requisitions I made them: The manner in which they assembled themselves near the town at the opening of the last Hillsborough superior court; their number and behaviour; together with the proceedings and issues of the court relative to them, and their complaints, I desire may be related to you by such gentlemen of your respective houses, who honoured me with their personal appearance and services at this critical time, and who were witnesses to those transactions, while I was confined by sickness.

Here permit me, in justice to the commendable conduct, as well as spirited inclinations of both officers and men, and gentlemen volunteers, who at their own expence, assembled to preserve the peace, to express the grateful sentiments I now feel, and shall ever retain, for their loyal and public services on that occasion. I persuade myself, every well-wisher to the happy constitution with which this country is blessed, will forcibly experience these sentiments: Surely it must be a pleasing circumstance to every honest mind, to reflect on the grateful testimony they have given of their affection for the public welfare, by turning out volunteers in protection of the liberties and laws of this country. The happy effects and success which resulted from such a conduct, are manifested by the event.

Should it appear upon enquiry, that the inhabitants labour under actual grievances not within the remedy of the laws in force, you will find me most heartily inclined to co-operate with you to the utmost of my power for their relief; and if there appears any real foundation of complaint beyond the extension of my instructions, I will most chearfully covenant the nature of them home, that his Majesty, in his great wisdom, may apply the proper remedy; this is a duty his Majesty requires from me, therefore I shall execute it with double satisfaction: In the mean time, I have an entire confidence, that by the spirit and prudence of your councils, by the firmness and stability of your resolutions, the public officers of government will be encouraged and protected in the legal execution of their offices, so as effectually to prevent any repetition of the contempt, defiance and insults, they have of late experienced in many parts of this country.

An act passed in this province in May 1765, for establishing an orthodox clergy, having received the King's approbation, I have it in command from his Majesty to recommend to you, to pass an act explanatory of the aforementioned act; as no provision is made therein for incorporating such clergymen as may be appointed to officiate during the suspension of any minister from serving the cure of such parish wherein he was incumbent. His Majesty's instructions to me, which I shall send you, will more fully set forth his Royal intention on that head, and I trust will cheerfully prompt you to acquiesce therein.

Your petition by committees of both houses, for a fresh emission of paper bills of credit, with a legal tender, has been laid before the King; and I am authorized to inform you, [illegible] the power of creating paper currency to be a legal tender, is restrained by act of parliament the Crown cannot exercise its discretion on that occasion: I will communicate to you a copy of what the Earl of Hillsborough has further wrote to me on that subject.

Gentlemen of the House of Assembly.

I shall lay before you, as soon as possible, the estimate of the expences of the militia forces raised, and incidental charges incurred, for the security of the public peace of the province. The pay of the officers and men are charged agreeable to what was granted last year to the troops that attended the running the Western frontier line.

This service I beg leave warmly to recommend to you as the first object of your attention, and earnestly to solicit you to make immediate provision for the same; as any delay in the payment would deprive many men of the reward of their faithful services, by reason of the great migration among the back settlers.

An enquiry into the state of your public funds continues with you an object of momentous concern. It is not the labour of one session, but of many, to bring the public accounts into a proper arrangement and order: You laid the foundation of these acquiries last session, and by your perseverance, the desirable end is only to be obtained.

A provision of powder and lead for his Majesty's service, and the defence of this province, is so extremely requisite on any sudden emergency, that on your re-considering its real importance, and the application I made to you for such a preparation last meeting, I am inclined to hope will now induce you to make provision for these articles.

Gentlemen of his Majesty's Honourable Council,
Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the house of assembly,

As the interior policy of this country was never more an object of serious concern to the public than at present, I most cordially wish, by a continuance of harmony and unanimity among the several branches of the legislature, such wholesome laws and regulations may be framed, as will effectually establish the peace, and protect the property of the inhabitants of this country, on a solid and secure foundation. I have only to offer on my part, my best intentions and inclinations for the felicity of this country: As long as his Majesty is graciously pleased to distinguish me by the honourable station he has here placed me in, I shall, on all occasions, by the most strenuous exertions of my abilities, endeavour to convince you, in sickness or in health, that to be steady to the support and vindication of his Majesty's government, and the true interest of this colony, are the ruling principles of my heart.

To his Excellency WILLIAM TRYON, Esq; his Majesty's Captain-General, Governor, and Commander in Chief, in and over the Province of North-Carolina,

The humble ADDRESS of the Council.

May it please your Excellency,

WE his Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the members of his Council, beg leave to return you our unfeigned thanks, for calling us together so early in the session, to communicate to us the late disturbances in the back frontier settlements of this province, and the measures you have taken for suppressing them in time; and thereby preventing the flame of civil discord from spreading through, and, perhaps, desolating every part of the province.

It would affect us with inexpressible concern, to contemplate the picture of distress, in which a great part of this province was so lately involved, if the view did not terminate in a brighter prospect; and, instead of the anarchy and confusion which at first present themselves, we were not cheered with the pleasing representation of public tranquility restored, peace and order re-established, and justice, unawed by popular clamour, again dealing forth her sacred and impartial dispensations. That the scene is thus changed to our advantage, is owing to the wise and vigorous measures your Excellency adopted: It now becomes our business, no less than it is our duty and inclination, to concur with the other branch of the legislature, in perfecting the good work your Excellency has so happily begun, in pursuing such measures, as, upon the maturest consideration, shall be found most expedient, to enable public officers to discharge their duty, with security to themselves, and benefit to the community; and in providing for the tranquility of the country, in so effectual a manner, as may put it out of the power of lurking and seditious spirits, to disturb it with impunity for the future: And that we may, with the greater certainty, attain these desirable purposes, we will minutely enquire into the most remote causes of the late disorders, that we may apply the most effectual remedy, if it lies within our reach; if not, that we may, thro' your Excellency's representation to his Majesty, obtain it from the throne.

As the dangerous illness with which you were lately attacked, the consequence of your fatigue, and solicitude for the welfare of this colony, filled us with the most melancholly apprehensions; we beg leave to testify our joy on the restoration of your health; and to assure you, that we consider it as a pledge of the divine favour to this province, that we were not deprived of a life so useful to the public, at that very critical and important juncture.

We sincerely sympathize with you, Sir, in every generous inclination to promote the good of our country; our hearts glow with the same patriotic sentiments which you so kindly express; and which, confirmed by your actions, eminently distinguish your Excellency's administration.

To which ADDRESS, His Excellency was pleased to return the following Answer.

Gentlemen of his Majesty's Honourable Council,

I thank you for your address: The honourable testimonies you give me of my late conduct, afford me a most sensible satisfaction, as the solicitude you express to have felt for the issue of my late steps, is a fresh mark of your concern for my welfare. Happy shall I really be, if the preservation of my life, under providence, can be directed to any beneficial purposes to society.

The laudable resolution you have taken to examine minutely into the causes of the late disturbances in the country, and your readiness, in union with the other branch of the legislature, to provide the proper remedies, is strictly agreeable to that vigilant attention I have always experienced in your councils, for the true interest of your King and country; a conduct, which in the present crisis, cannot fail to give the happiest turn to the public affairs of this colony.

To his Excellency WILLIAM TRYON, Esquire his Majesty's Captain-General, Governor, and Commander in Chief, in and over the Province of North Carolina.

The humble ADDRESS of the Assembly.

SIR,

WE his Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the members of the assembly of North Carolina, return your Excellency our thanks for your speech, at the opening of this session.

This house, Sir, have the fullest conviction of the necessity there was for marching a body of militia into Hillsborough, to oppose the intentional outrages of a set of men, who, forgetful of the duty they owed their Sovereign, insensible of the happiness of your Excellency's administration, and in defiance of the laws under which they lived, were pursuing measures destructive to the felicity, and dangerous to the constitution of their country.

The detestation we have of the riotous and illegal proceedings of these insurgents, would alone be increased, by reflecting on the anxiety and severe illness we have reason to imagine they occasioned your Excellency, to whose activity and spirited conduct we owe the return of that tranquility and order, now so likely to take place: And though words cannot express how high a sense we have of the important service you have rendered us, permit us, Sir, to increase the obligation, by requesting your acceptance of those thanks, which, in the ardour of our gratitude, we most sincerely offer.

We are happy, Sir, that the behaviour of the officers, soldiers, and gentlemen volunteers, assembled for so laudable a purpose as the preservation of the public peace, have been both pleasing to your Excellency, and useful to the province: And we hope, that upon so strong a proof of their merit, as that of your Excellency's approbation, you will give us leave, in this public manner, to express our entire satisfaction in their conduct, and to return them our thanks.

Your Excellency may depend, if it should appear to us, that the inhabitants of this province labour under actual grievances, not within the remedy of the laws now in force, we shall, as far as our power extends, endeavour, by constructing new acts, to remove the inconveniences: And there is nothing, Sir, you may more certainly rely on, than that all officers of government, in the legal execution of their offices, shall receive every encouragement, protection and support, that we can give them.

We return your Excellency our hearty thanks, for having the petition of the council and assembly of this province, for an emission of paper currency, as a legal tender, laid before his Majesty; and it is with inexpressible concern that we receive the information of it's having met with discouragement: We adopted the measure, and relied on the success of it, as the only means of saving this province from ruin; nor are we happy enough at this time to have the least reason to alter that opinion: Reflected in this particular, and distressed by the taxes as we are, we shall find it difficult, if not impossible, to pay the troops lately so necessarily, and to so good effect, employed in the support of government: We shall, however, when your Excellency is pleased to lay the estimate of expences before us, take the same under consideration, and make provision for payment, as soon as the circumstances of the province will admit.

The stating and adjusting of our public accounts, will still continue to be thought the important concern of the house, in order to direct and facilitate our inquiry into the state of the public funds; and every other particular your Excellency has been pleased to mention, shall receive that attention, which we shall always be inclined to pay to your recommendations.

We join your Excellency in opinion, that the interior policy of this country was never more an object of serious concern than at present; and we cannot too strongly express our desire of uniting with every branch of the legislature, in framing such laws as will establish the peace, and secure the property of the inhabitants of this colony.

This house beg leave to thank your Excellency for the offer of your best intentions and inclinations for the felicity of this country; are happy in declaring that your actions have ever given undeniable proofs, that to be steady in support of his Majesty's government, and the true interest of this colony, are the ruling principles of your heart: And there is no wish, Sir, in which we are more sincere, than that your continuing long to preside over this province, may be consistent with the pleasure of our Royal Sovereign, and your Excellency's happiness.

To which ADDRESS, His Excellency was pleased to return the following Answer.

Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House of Assembly

IT affords me the most grateful satisfaction to find by the generous sentiments of your address, that the measures I pursued to suppress the late insurrections in the country, are honoured with your approbation. The anxiety and indisposition I experienced on that service is fully repaid by the successful conduct of the troops, and the thanks they have merited and received from your house; an honour I am proud to share with them. The estimates of their expences I have to be able to lay before you To day; when I trust you will find ways and means to furnish the money to discharge the same as soon as possible. Tho' your petition to his Majesty for the emission of a paper currency has not met with the desired success I sincerely hope no impending ruin waits this province from its failure. From the informations I received in several parts of this province thro' which I have travelled I am inclined to believe, many of the inhabitants are great sufferers, from the heavy burden of their private obligations which, by the ingenuity of their creditors, can only be discharged with cash; this puts it out of the power of the former to extricate themselves from the load under the present great scarcity of money: If any expedient can be found for this difficulty it's possible it may give great relief to those under such unhappy circumstances. I thank you, gentlemen as well for the great attention you assure me you will pay to every matter I have submitted to your consideration as for your kind wishes for a continuance of my residence with you; a circumstance, however flattering and agreeable to me, entirely rests on his Majesty's gracious pleasure.

RUN AWAY,

ABOUT two months ago, a likely NEGRO FELLOW, named SAM, a little pock-pitted, and speaks very good English, his feet remarkably short and thick, and his great toes stand wide from the others, and turn towards each other very much; is well known in Charles-Town, and in many different parts of the province: He used to be some times employed about fetching timber and wood, and has a general acquaintance with boat negroes and fishermen; has been once in England, and it is not improbable that he may attempt to get off in some vessel, it is therefore hoped, that all masters of vessels and of coasting schooners will be cautious that there's no strange Negro harboured or employed without a ticket: He has a wife at Captain Lempriere's, and has been seen at different times in Christ-Church parish, where it is supposed he is harboured; he has likewise been seen in Charles-Town. Whoever will take said negro, and deliver him to the warden of the work-house, or to me in Charles-Town, shall have SIX DOLLARS reward, from
JOHN ROSE.

CHARLES-TOWN, December 15.

On the 13th of September last the General Assembly of Jamaica met according to prorogation. Lieut. Governor Elletson in his Speech, renews the royal requisition "for repayment of the monies advanced by the Treasury of Great-Britain for the maintenance of his Majesty's troops stationed there," which had been declined the last year. The Council in their Address of the 15th, take not the least notice of it. The Assembly on theirs, promise to re-consider the matter. The 19th, his Honour gave his assent to one act, after which the Assembly presented to him another Address, and representation, whereby they again decline the repayment aforesaid, setting forth, that they could not do otherwise, without endangering the most essential rights & privileges of their constituents. The same day Mr. Elletson was pleased to dissolve the General Assembly, and writs were issued for electing a new one. September 30th, His Excellency William Trelawney, Esq; Governor in Chief &c. of that Island, arrived at Port-Royal, in his Majesty's ship Jason, Capt. Antrobus. October 7th, the Hon. Charles Price, Esq; many years Speaker of the Assembly, received a patent, by the hands of the Governor, creating him a Baronet of Great-Britain. And on the 20th, Governor Trelawney made his public entry into Kingston.

Our last advices from East Florida are, that the whole of the 21st regiment was arrived at St. Augustine, and most of the girls: That the town was so full of Military Gentry that many were obliged to encamp for want of houses: That the new Barracks were carrying on with such expedition, that they would soon be completed: That afterwards the troops would be employed in making roads and other public works for the improvement of that province, to which his Excellency Governor Grant bestows his whole attention: And that a snow belonging to Dublin, Patrick Roche master, which had brought troops from Pensacola, two days after landing them (on the 6th instant) parted her cables in a hard gale of wind, was drove ashore, and beat to pieces on that Bar.——Some letters intimate, that it is thought the 9th regiment will be ordered here.

Tuesday arrived here from London, in the ship London, Capt. Curling, William Henderson, Esq; formerly Master of the Free-school in this town, and Mr. Peter Leger, merchant.——On the 23th of October last, in Lat. 39 N. Long. 17 30 W. from London, Capt. Curling spoke with the Brig. Messenger, Ralph Moore master, from Philadelphia for Lisbon, 23 days out, all well on board.

The same day arrived in the ship Cæsar, from St. Kitts, Mr. William Price, merchant.

Captain Dunbar is just arrived here in 18 days from Rhode-Island, with the Honourable John Burn, Esquire, and Mrs. Burns, passengers. By the public prints, to the 21st of November, received by him, we are informed;

That six of the transports with the two regiments from Cork, arrived at Boston the first week of that Month.

That that part of the 14th regiment which had been quartered in the town-house, was removed from thence the 9th, into barracks.

That the Sultana cutter, with dispatches from England, arrived on the 8th, and the Viper man of war from Halifax on the 10th.

That the Romney man of war returned from Halifax, with Commodore Hood, and Lord William Campbell, on board on the 14th.

That the Commissioners of the customs returned the same day, from their immurement at Castle-William to town, and hold their board, as formerly, at Concert-Hall.

That the 64th regiment was disembarked on the 16th, which, with the 14th and 29th, were quartered in the town; and that the other Irish regiment was to go to Castle William, remain there till the spring, and then be quartered in the principal sea-port towns on the coast of New-England.

That the Hussar frigate, convoy to the transports from Ireland, had put into New-York.

That the Fowey man of war (reckoned a ship) had put into Louisburg. And,

That they have hung his Excellency G——r B——d and Sheriff G——n, in effigy, at New-York.

LONDON, October 3.

Y a letter from Corſica, we are informed, that Paoli has publiſhed a manifeſto, wherein he complains that the French have attacked the Corſican nation unawares, and cut the throats of thoſe who uſed the lawful right of watching over the preſervation of the country. He aſſerts, in the ſame manifeſto, that nothing is more equivocal than the rights of the republic of Genoa; and that beſides, were they as evident as they are doubtful, ſhe could not tranſmit them to another power without the conſent of the Corſicans; whom he exhorts not to ſuffer themſelves to be ſold like cattle at a market; to repel force by force; and to aſſemble all, or at leaſt by deputies, on the 20th of September, at Caſinca, there to deliberate on the means of preſerving themſelves from ſlavery and deſtruction. He claims the protection and guaranty of all the powers who ſigned the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle; and invokes the juſtice of God, the ſuccour of his providence, the laws of humanity, the right of nations, &c.

A letter from Paris, dated September 26, ſays, "The court has juſt received the following account of the operations of the King's troops in Corſica.—The Marquis de Chauvelin having made his diſpoſition to attack, at the ſame time, ſeveral poſts occupied by the rebels, put the troops in motion the 5th of this month, at break of day, in three columns; and the deſign was ſo well concerted, that all the different attacks perfectly ſucceeded; on the right, they took the poſts of Oletta and Olmera; and, on the left, thoſe of Bibuglia and Furiana. At beginning of the action, the Sieur Paoli, who was at Olmetta, quitted it precipitately, and retired to ſome diſtance. Theſe ſucceſſes have been followed by the ſubmiſſion of the province of Nebbio and the Pieve of Caſinca, and have determined the rebels to abandon the tower of Fornali and Morteila."

The powers engaged in a propoſed new formed Brunſwick Compact, are, Great Britain, Ruſſia, Denmark, Pruſſia, Holland, and all the leſſer provinces of the houſe of Brunſwick.

Saturday afternoon ſailed from Portſmouth, with a fair wind, his Majeſty's ſhip Seaford, for Liſbon, with the Marchioneſs of Taviſtock, and her brother, Admiral Keppal, on board.

October 5. A grand council was ſummoned to meet this day at St. James's.

October 6. Yeſterday orders were given for the Mary yatcht, commanded by Captain Campbell, to ſail round to Dover, on Saturday next, and to wait there the arrival of his Daniſh Majeſty, who will embark for Calais, he intending to viſit the court of France.

It is confidently reported, that a certain Admiral, lately ſailed for the Mediterranean to accompany his amiable conſort, is charged with an important affair, the particulars of which will ſcarce be known until they are executed.

There is alſo advice from Leghorn, that the French troops had not made much further progreſs in Corſica; but that as Caſinca had ſurrendered to them which is the place where the Deputies of the nation were appointed to meet on the 20th of laſt month, it was not known in what place the intended meeting would be held.

Laſt night, about eleven o'clock, his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland arrived at his houſe in Pall Mall from his travels abroad, in perfect health.

This morning two expreſſes arrived from Portſmouth to the Lords of the Admiralty.

October 7. The French have expelled the Jeſuits from Corſica.

One of the papers ſays, "The following changes are talked of as to take place next week, viz. the Duke of Bedford, firſt lord of the treaſury, in the room of the duke of Grafton, to be privy ſeal, vice Lord Chatham, who retires; Lord Egmont to be ſecretary of ſtate for the Southern department, in the room of Lord Shelburne, and Lord Sandwich to be firſt Lord of the Admiralty, in the room of Sir Edward Hawke."

A gentleman who profeſſes himſelf a well-wiſher to Great Britain and her colonies, obſerves, that as the enforcement or repeal of the late act relating to the colonies may be attended with equally bad conſequences, he would recommend the execution of the ſaid act to be, by ſome how, ſuſpended ſine die, or for a limitted time. The reſolutions of parliament, with reſpect to the right of taxation, would then remain; and the government may then require of the Americans their contributions towards its ſupport, as in the late war, but adequate to their abilities during peace.
